IMPORTANT NOTES:

- A student who is on academic probation may register for summer courses. If the student does not earn the required cumulative GPA to be removed from probation, the student will be academically dismissed and will not be allowed to continue in summer school regardless of the ruling on any appeal.
- A student who is on academic probation when registration opens for the summer or winter intersession courses may not register for and/or enroll in an intersession course.
- A student whose GPA drops below a 2.0 at the end of a semester and has already enrolled in an on-campus summer school course will be removed from the course and the tuition will be refunded.
- A student whose GPA drops below a 2.0 at the end of a semester and has already completed an intersession class while on probation, but before grades were available, may elect to be removed from the course and have the tuition refunded or to take a pass/fail credit for the course.
- A student whose GPA drops below a 2.0 at the end of a semester and is enrolled in a study abroad program may elect to be removed from the course and have the tuition refunded or to take a pass/fail credit for the course.

- Maximum hours for the summer term:
  - Students taking Trial Practice intersession and regular summer session courses may take up to 10 hours combined.
  - All other students taking summer session courses may take up to 8 hours if they are not working. You must have permission from the Associate Dean for more than 6 hours.
  - Students taking 6 hours may work a maximum of 20 hours.
  - Students taking less than 6 hours may work full time.
